ZOLI ANTONIO has been building sporting firearms for many years. As we are passionate about what we do, we never stop researching and we believe that innovation and traditions can or, rather must coexist, our products are technologically advanced but respect all the most important gunmaking principles. Through this catalogue ZOLI ANTONIO is now proud to introduce a new generation of firearms. They are the result of a very ambitious project developed around the concept that quality can never be sacrificed or compromised. Our new products are revolutionary from a mechanical standpoint but classic in look and design. They reflect the principles of gunmaking that generated exquisite pieces in the past, real works of art skilled craftsmen could produce for the joy of only very few people.

Company History

The history of the ZOLI family blends with the history of the Valtrompia region and its gunmaking tradition. Records show ZOLI ancestors building locks back in 1490 and complete firearms not long after that. Giovanni Zoli signed a flint lock pistol around 1850 and the gun is now treasured in the private family collection. Zoli Antonio s.r.l. as it is today was founded immediately after World War II by Antonio Zoli. The founder, moved by that restless entrepreneurship typical of the Brescia region, started a business which would have made his own name and company brand famous throughout the world. The company started making hammer side by side shotguns (models AVI and Santa Barbara), Anson-type over and under shotguns (models Ariete, Empire and Silver Fox) and Holland & Holland-type side by side shotguns (the prestigious model Vulcano in its three versions - Standard, Record and Record ELM). At the end of the 50s ZOLI introduced Anson-type over and under shotguns (model Delfino) and H&H over and under shotguns with Merkel-type locking systems. In the early 60s the ZOLI brand was known and appreciated in every market not only for the quality but also the uniqueness of the guns produced which could be told apart from the most traditional Italian products available at the time. In this period ZOLI was the first company in the world to manufacture replica black powder guns and create a completely new market. That stopped in the late 70s after over 200,000 units had been produced mainly for America. The Zuave, Mississippi, J.P. Murray, Duck, Harper's Ferry and Sharps were the most successful products reminiscent of the American Civil War era.

The Delfino line gave the company better international recognition but it was with the production of shotgun/rifle combination guns and express rifles that ZOLI earned the reputation of quality and precision it has been known for ever since. ZOLI was the first Italian company to produce combination guns and rifles which could compete with products made by famous Austrian and German makers and be appreciated by customers all over Europe.

Times were changing rapidly and towards the end of the 70s Giuseppe Zoli decided to modernize the Delfino O/U line. He changed the gun mechanism radically and moved away from the top fastener to start using a more traditional under bolt locking system.

The Delfino was replaced with the Ritmo.

The Ritmo line consisted of smooth bore barrel shotguns, shotgun/rifle combination guns and express double rifles. Thousands of units were built from the late 70s to the beginning of the new millennium. In the early 80s only very few manufacturers in the world were producing as many different products as ZOLI.

From O/U shotguns and hunting side by side shotguns to over and under rifles, side by side rifles and shotgun/rifle combinations.

However Giuseppe Zoli decided to introduce a bolt action rifle and called it the AZ 1900.

ZOLI was the first Italian company to make a bolt action rifle capitalizing on the experience made building thousands of rifled bore guns.

Thousands of AZ1900 bolt action rifles have been produced in both hunting and Varmint versions so far.

In the early 90s ZOLI success was so big and the sales network was expanding so fast that the company decided to design and engineer a Drilling model called MG-92.

The origin

The Drilling project represented a real challenge for the company which had to compete with well established producers from central and Eastern Europe. But the drilling has been very successful since it was launched and it is still in production today. The ZOLI is the only three-barrel (two smooth barrel and one rifled) drilling ever manufactured in Italy. Towards the end of the past century under Paolo Zoli's new management the company embraced one of the most challenging O/U projects ever. It was called "Revolution 4" and led to the creation of the model Corona (rifle/shotgun combination), Focus (over and under rifle), Columbus (smooth-bore field O/U shotgun) and last, but not least, Kronos (Sporting O/U shotgun).

ZOLI strategically decided to upgrade its offer and provide every gun with the technical features which used to be typical only of high quality firearms produced in small volumes. It is with this new range of products that ZOLI entered the new millennium and the response from old and new customers have proved us right. Production methods have dramatically changed over the last 60 years. Most traditional machines have been replaced with technologically advanced CNC pieces of equipment which give our skilled gunmakers more time and freedom to work as finishers. After 60 years ZOLI is known as one of the very few companies that can offer a wide range of high quality products designed, engineered and manufactured mainly in house.

Flint lock pistol built and signed before 1850 by Giovanni Zoli.

The factory

The technology

However the designing and engineering stages and the actual production process are now completely computer controlled.

Next to designers with pencils and universal drafting devices, ZOLI now employs computer experts fluent in 3D Cad/Cam systems who can implement "real time" changes to the cosmetic and the mechanics of our guns.

Our parts and mechanisms are no longer checked by manual gauges but by computerized measuring devices which can detect even the smallest deviation for the required tolerance.

24/7 our CNC equipment produces actions, fore-end irons, trigger groups, barrel monoblocs, frames and locking bolts.

Every operation from the easiest to the most complicated one is controlled by our technicians' expert eyes with the support of 3D testing machines to verify conformity.

Over the years ZOLI has been able to successfully address the need of increased productivity without giving up any old gun making principles and finding the right balance between traditions and technology.

When ZOLI shotguns were manufactured on very traditional pieces of equipment such as with files, lathes, grinding machines and sandpaper, the quality of the products was the master gunmaker's responsibility.

In 2008 the professionalism and skills of our craftsmen still play a very important role especially in the final finishing and testing stages.

The assembly

Professionalism

Even if continuously updated and modernized, the barrel department in our company is still very traditional.

ZOLI has always been renowned for the ballistic quality and performance of its products which comes from 60 years of experience and a production philosophy that goes well above and beyond modern technology.

When we make barrels we follow very traditional principles even if that means needing more human resources, having less productivity and higher costs.

The images below partly show that the success of the ZOLI brand on the market is not only the result of a continuous effort, but of a vision, of an alternative way where technology and the best manual skills are perfectly combined.

Zoli was the first company in the world to develop an industrial process to silver solder rifle-shotgun combination and drilling barrels. This technique guarantees a more efficient joining of barrels compared to the more traditional approach, which employs tin alloys. Further advantages entail a more homogeneous assembly providing a drastic reduction of micro-vibrations when shooting and the possibility to carry out bluing processes in a chemical bath without compromising the soldering itself. Today, all barrels at Zoli's are made with this exclusive technique.

All guns are equipped with a particularly robust locking system.

This consists of a split locking bolt that mates accurately with the locking lugs of the monoblock. The central position of the locking system compared to the monoblock axis ensures maximum tightness.

Such a design requires the employment of spark erosion [EDM machining] techniques that allow extremely close tolerances. When shooting, the joint between barrel and action is maintained over a long period due to the axis pins being positioned in the lower part of the barrel itself and the bottom lug engaging with the action body.

Zoli's percussion system has been designed to the highest safety standards that technology can offer.

The firing pin is guided by a specially made bushing that ensures its perfect operation. The bushing is also provided with vent holes, to allow any gas produced by the accidental perforation of the cartridge percussion cap to escape, without damage to the gun or injury to the user.

"Classic Revolution" is the name of a challenging, rigorous and uncompromised project ZOLI embraced a few years ago.

In this section you will learn about the most important technical features of all ZOLI over and under shotguns which have made this project extremely successful.

Through its "Classic Revolution" ZOLI entered the new millennium with a better image and a stronger presence on all international markets.

The action, trigger plate and monoblock form the foundation of the gun. Such components are all made using forged alloy steel.

Amongst these components, the new solid action is the most important and innovative.

Because the trigger plate mechanism is completely independent from the action, it does not sustain the stress and strain that could affect the adjustment of the firing mechanism.

High adjustment standards are therefore guaranteed even under prolonged heavy use.

The detachable trigger mechanism also facilitates easy maintenance.

Percussion System

All Z Series guns are fitted with the hand detachable Zoli design trigger lock system. Hand fitted by capable gunsmiths and loaded with powerful coil springs coated with self lubricating material, all critical parts are titanium nitrate treated for maximum corrosion resistance and wear. Hammers, sears and trigger blades are precision CNC machined, specially hardened and ground. Trigger blades are easily adjustable fore and aft.

At Antonio Zoli Company we use only the best engravers and finishers available today. Our custom shop offers the prestigious Ambassador Series with exhibition grade walnut and hand-filed, engraved actions as well as complete bespoke gun capability.

Whether you select the new Z Sport or a custom Super Luxus, all Z Series guns provide the same world class ballistic performance, balance and durability required to be your gun of choice as well as your son's. All Z Series guns are built to the same high standards whether for competition or game. As a matter of fact, Z Series guns require no annual factory service contrary to other prestigious brands offered on the market.

Antonio Zoli Company is pleased to introduce the new Z Series World Class Guns for competition and game. The Z-GUN Series offers our highest level of materials, engineering and craftsmanship: guns that are second to none and fear no competition thanks to harsh testing, strenuous quality control and technological improvements. Engineered to excel, our Z GUNS offer remarkable ballistic performance, reliability, dynamic handling and the utmost attention paid to every detail. The highly refined Anson boxlock design with low recoil shoulders is perfectly matched with the trusted Boss locking system. Designed to perform hundreds of thousands of rounds, the new Z GUN design system provides target crushing power and dynamic handling while housed in an elegant Italian design.

The new Z-GUNS come with the ultimate "Z-Bore" barrels, the result of 60 years of development, experience and know how in our barrel plant. Zoli "Z-Bore" barrels are the envy of gun makers all over the world. Nothing compares- not even close! Shot patterns are exceptionally dense and homogeneous as well as consistent. Long distances and complex trajectories are no longer a problem. You will often hear shooters using Z Bore barrels say: "This is a completely new experience to me"; "Recoil is exceptionally easy"; "Crushing targets is a walk in the park now"; "All of a sudden I was smoking targets with light loads and low recoil". Z- Bore barrels don't need super velocity heavy target loads to get the job done. We deliver better performance with standard and light target loads and far lower recoil.

Each Z-Bore barrel is machined from special hot forged alloy steel bars in our proprietary process. To be completed each bore goes through very specific steps which are all essential to the outstanding quality of our barrels: from the selection of the best possible materials, to the aging, machining, stress relieving, precision pairing, fitting, soldering and the finishing. Precision machined titanium treated extended choke tubes complete the Z Bore system.

Columbus

The Columbus field O/U shotgun is another product resulted from the "Classic Revolution" ZOLI embraced at the turn of the century to completely renew its offer.

The shotgun has been totally upgraded from a technical and cosmetic standpoint. Now it comes with technical features which used to be found only on high grade guns manufactured in small volumes such as solid action, detachable trigger group, Boss-type locking system and silver soldered barrels which capitalize on 50 years of experience and set new ballistic standards. Cosmetically the shotgun competes with the best hunting guns on the market thanks to its refined engraving, stock in select walnut, fine checkering, wooden butt plate and compact dimensions.

Columbus Gold 12ga.

The Columbus comes in different versions suitable for traditional walk up hunting as well as woodcock, rabbit and wild boar hunting.

The trigger group can be quickly removed from the solid action using a small wrench supplied with the gun.

The trigger group is easy to replace and service when needed.

Every side of the Columbus action features elegant game scene engraving.

The "Columbus" comes with a pheasant in flight engraved on the bottom while flying partridges and ducks embellish the sides. In the "Columbus Gold" the scenes are the same as the Columbus, but in gold.

The "Columbus Light-Comfort" comes with 80% coverage of fine English scroll.

Kronos

The Kronos comes with an action made from a solid piece of forged steel, a detachable trigger group, a Boss-type locking system and complete stock interchangeability. The most prestigious British guns, particularly the "Boss", were our source of inspiration when we designed our low profile action and trigger which is not only nice, but also extremely functional and ergonomic. Combined with the lines and dimensions of our stock, the line of the trigger make the Kronos a very comfortable gun to mount, shoot and control. But the real strength of our new competition gun lies in its barrels. Thanks to over 50 years of experience building a component which we consider to be absolutely strategic to the performance of a gun, we have enough confidence to say that our barrels yield the best ballistic performances and comfort and generate the lowest possible recoil ever. When building barrels in house, ZOLI only uses top quality materials and follows extremely precise production cycles under continuous skilled craftsmen's supervision. Tolerances are very tight and there is no room for mistakes. The Kronos comes in Trap, Sporting, Skeet and Elise versions with either black or silver receiver.

Kronos Silver

It took our technical designers and engineers a long time, great passion and total dedication to design our new Kronos O/U shotgun. They knew that nothing could be second class and left to chance in a gun meant for competition. Every small part had to be designed and studied carefully, checked and double-checked. The Kronos had to set new standards in terms of performance, reliability, wear, comfort, ergonomics and looks. We are indeed very happy with the results as our new gun has become the perfect synthesis of balance, excellent mechanical features and flawless performance.

The Kronos comes with the best ZOLI barrels which enhance ammunition performance, generate perfect shot patterns and limit the recoil to the absolute minimum ever experienced in competition guns so far.

As a result the gun is overall very stable but swift and a winner in competitions.

The Sporting and Skeet versions come with interchangeable choke tubes while the Olympic Trap and Universal Trap versions come with fixed chokes.

Titanium Zoli-Chokes

ZOLI shotguns come with either flush choke tubes called Flush-ZoliChokes, or extended choke tubes known as Extended-ZoliChokes. For available dimensions see table in the accessory section.

The trigger group can be quickly removed from the solid action using a small wrench supplied with the gun. The trigger group is easy to replace and service when needed and the trigger pulls are easy to maintain.

Drilling MG-92 EL

Drilling MG-92

The "Drilling" is a traditional, valid and dependable gun, ideal for mixed hunting. Model "MG 92" is a modern interpretation with some new features.

In spite of the sturdy structure of the tri-alloy steel action, the gun is extremely light (about 3,450 kilos).

The tang safety includes a system for selecting smooth/rifled, direct, simple and fast shot.

The set trigger can be inserted on the first trigger. It is a double release device for precision shooting which has an adjustable screw allowing the trigger release to conform to the shooter's touch. All finishing operations are carried out with extreme care.

The hand engravings are signed by master engravers, the stocks are top quality and the checkering is extra fine.

These are some of the eye catching features of the model "Drilling MG 92 EL".

The technical details are exceptional: special steels and heat treatments, patented double safety system which works on the triggers and both hammers, the firing pin on the rifled barrel with a very strong thread to safeguard the hunter in case of primer ruptures.

Corona

ZOLI was the first Italian company to produce rifle/shotgun combination guns in the early 60s and has manufactured over 80,000 units ever since. The current line known as "Corona" clearly capitalizes on the experience ZOLI has made over the years. The mechanical and ballistic performances of the guns as well as the safety features are second to none. The cocking system can be either manual or traditional, the former being provided with the exclusive ZOLI "ISD" device which stops the hammer travel in case of accidental percussion. The percussion system comes with the "PPS" device that protects the hunter from gas generated by accidental explosions of perforated cartridges. The set trigger is more sensitive and precise thanks to a tiny screw that has simplified its regulation.

Corona EL SP

SP hand cocking button.

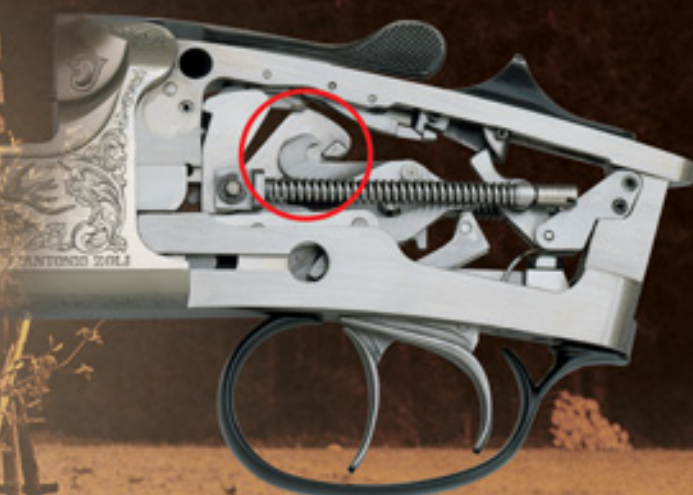

Corona

The "Revolution 4" project provides several types of cocking mechanism.

The most innovative one is represented by the version with manual cocking, which allows one to cock the gun by pushing forward the special button positioned at the rear part of the action. This system, which is unique to the Zoli range, is capable of cocking both barrels at the same time and is equipped with a sophisticated safety device. This device avoids accidental discharge due to violent shocks, breakage or disengagement of the sears.

Corona EL

Corona

The barrels are silver soldered, the stock features a traditional Bavarian cheek piece, the swallow-tail rib has been specifically designed for the ZOLI fast detachable scope mounts.

A second set of smooth bore barrels in 20mag can always be fitted to every gun.

The Corona comes in two versions i.e. the Corona S and Corona EL the main differences being the higher quality of the wood, the finer checkering cut by hand and the engraving signed by the master on the EL version.

Bolt action

A product that will go the distance, maintain its value and represent a good investment requires a total commitment to quality right from the first stages of the designing and engineering process.

ZOLI has followed this principle since day one. In this section you will learn the decisions our company has taken while designing and engineering our AZ 1900 rifle.

The head of the bolt has two locking lugs with a claw extractor built into the body; the case ejector is of the piston type. The entire cartridge head is contained within the housing. There is an appendix on one of the locking lugs which acts as a guide for smoother running.

At Zoli the bolt and receiver are both made from solid steel bar using CNC machines and then undergo surface hardening treatment. A point of note is that the recoil lug is an integral part of the bar stock used to produce the receiver thus giving added strength and increased accuracy.

The set trigger

The new set trigger, which is made entirely using CNC machines, comes with the exclusive new [Innovative Safety System] ISS safety system offering the following advantages. 1) It cannot be activated when the safety is on or the gun is unarmed. 2) It deactivates automatically when the safety is applied. 3) It deactivates automatically when the bolt is opened. This special system eliminates all possible risks connected with use of the set trigger, which, together with the standard double safety catch, means that Zoli rifles are truly unbeatable in terms of safe operation.

Detachable magazine (optional)

The AZ 1900 can be fitted with a detachable magazine on specific request.

The Alpen and Super Lux versions have the name Zoli in relief on the pistol grip. This can be done for other models on request.

Muzzle brake (optional)

Zoli have designed a highly efficient muzzle brake that is capable of cutting recoil by up to 40% for some calibres of rifle.

Scope attachment

The AZ 1900 comes with either fixed or fast detachable scope mount (see accessory section).

Glass bedding

All New Edition models can be glass bedded between the action and stock. This can be done at the front or the front and the rear of the receiver to further enhance accuracy.

Free floating barrel

For improved accuracy, all Zoli rifles come with a free floating barrel. The paper test reveals the space between the barrel and the forend wood.

Safety Catch

The AZ 1900 was the first standard rifle to be fitted with a safety with the DSS [Double Safety System] device. With the safety on, a special button opens the bolt and the round can be removed from the cartridge chamber in complete safety. The combination of this device and the set trigger makes Zoli rifles truly unbeatable in terms of safe operation.

Bolt action rifle

Bavarian

The HUSQVARNA 1900 rifle has always been famous for its frame and bolt made from a solid block of steel, very fluid action and crisp trigger pull. Now ZOLI is proudly reproducing all these features and more and offering uncompromised quality at affordable prices.

The "Bavarian" line comes in different versions all featuring impressive traditional Mittel-European style Bavarian cheek pieces. The "DSS" safety system, the "ISS" set trigger and all safety features available come standard on every bolt action rifle in the Bavarian line.

The "Bavarian Lux" differs from the entry level "Bavarian S" only for the traditional engraving that covers the entire frame and trigger guard.

The "Battue" has been specifically studied for driven hunts and comes with a barrel 7 cm shorter than on any other model and different metal sights better suited for fast aiming.

The model "Battue" is also available in a left-handed version.

The Alpen and the Classic combine beauty, strength and functionality. The model "Classic" is also available in a left-handed version.

AZ 1900 Classic

The Stutzen is a lighter and easier to handle version of the AZ 1900 rifle suitable for very traditional hunting. The stock extends up to the muzzle where it ends in a Schnabel tip. For improved precision it is no longer fixed to the muzzle by means of a traditional clip but of a spring bush half way down the barrel. The negative effects of dilatation caused by heat are substantially reduced.
